SUMMARY OF THE ISSUE

On July 1, 2018, the Office of State Publishing (OSP) will take over all supply chain management (production, warehousing, and distribution) for First 5 California's Kit for New Parents (Kit) program. First 5 California's current Kit supply chain management contract with ALOM Technologies ends June 30, 2017.

OSP has granted First 5 California a waiver to extend the current Kit contract with ALOM through June 30, 2018. This extension of time will allow Kit production and distribution to continue during this transition period, and also will allow First 5 California to continue with its updates to Kit content and packaging.

During this contract extension, First 5 California plans to continue its efforts to refresh and update Kit content with the purchase of UC Berkeley's Parent Guide (in both hard copy and digital format) to replace the Kit's recently discontinued Advice for New Parents book.

Approval of this contract extension with ALOM Technologies until June 30, 2018, and $4.5 funding authorization would enable First 5 California to continue current Kit production and distribution, and to purchase UC Berkeley's Parent Guide to replace the Kit's Advice for New Parents book. This extension also gives First 5 California staff the opportunity to continue developing a revamped version of the Kit equipped with the latest information on child health, early brain development, child care, literacy, and nutrition.

RECOMMENDATION

First 5 California staff recommends the Commission approve $3 million for a contract extension with ALOM Technologies until June 30, 2018, to continue the current Kit for New Parents production and distribution, and $1.5 million to purchase UC Berkeley's Parent Guide in printed and digital format as a replacement for the Kit's Advice for New Parents book.

BACKGROUND OF KEY ISSUES

The Kit for New Parents has touched more hands than any other First 5 California program, with over 4.9 million Kits distributed since its 2001 release. Available in English, Spanish, Cantonese, Mandarin, Korean, and Vietnamese, the Kit often functions as a critical first step to educate California parents about the care, health, and education of children ages 0 to 5. Through First 5 California's partnerships with First 5 county commissions, the Kit reaches local organizations ranging from hospitals and clinics, to churches, foster care services, preschools, and community colleges. Individuals also can request a Kit by calling First 5 California's 1-800 line, or by visiting the recently launched Kit ordering page on the First 5 California Parent website.

The following is data collected by the California Health Interview Survey during the 2013–14 survey cycle for parents with young children ages 0 to 5:

- 46 percent of parents were aware that First 5 California provides a free Kit (estimated parent population aware: 1.35 million)
- Among parents aware of the Kit, 74 percent had received the Kit (estimated parent population who received the Kit: 999,000)
- 71 percent of parents had used the Kit if they received it during the past 12 months (estimated parent population using the Kit in last year: 198,000)

A critical component of the Kit for New Parents program is efficient supply chain management. Supply chain management includes raw material procurement, inventory control, IT services, printing, finished goods production, and fulfillment. Since 2003, First 5 California has requested, and has been granted, waivers (generally for a three-year period) from the Office of State Publishing (OSP) to go out for bid for these services.

In August 2016, First 5 California's three-year waiver request to go out to bid for a new Kit contract (set to begin July 1, 2017) was denied by OSP. OSP informed First 5 California that it would be taking over all aspects of the Kit's supply chain management on July 1, 2017. Per the California State Constitution, OSP has the right of first refusal for all print-related projects that can be performed by State employees.

This change in OSP policy toward the Kit program put a temporary halt to most of First 5 California's plans to fully update and redesign the Kit. First 5 California has concerns about OSP's ability to fulfill Kit contract requirements. These concerns spring from past experiences (prior to 2003) with OSP's supply chain management services. First 5 California staff have begun discussions with OSP staff to educate them about the scope, size, and Kit contract demands, and to emphasize the importance of OSP meeting the objectives of First 5 California's flagship program.

These discussions have led to OSP granting First 5 California a one-year waiver to extend the current contract with ALOM until June 30, 2018. This one-year extension allows both First 5 California and OSP time to prepare for a smooth transfer of Kit supply chain management services from the current vendor to OSP. Approval by the Commission to extend and fund the current contract with ALOM also would enable current Kit production and shipment to continue through this transition period. Additionally, the extension would allow First 5 California time to update and redesign the Kit.

First 5 California made the following incremental Kit revisions during the past year:

1. Removed outdated Advice for New Parents book
2. Added brain development card and brochure
3. Added Paid Family Leave brochure
4. Revised current Kit box exterior art to include brain development information
5. Launched Kit ordering page on the First 5 California Parent website

First 5 California plans to purchase UC Berkeley's Parent Guide to replace the recently removed Advice for New Parents book. The Parent Guide will be customized to First 5 California's specifications, and written at an easily understandable readability level. Purchase of Parent Guide also would allow First 5 California to continue its incremental updates to the Kit.

The Parent Guide offers the following:

1. Up-to-date information on brain development, prevention of adverse childhood experiences (ACES), health, nutrition, childcare, and safety
2. Translation into all Kit languages
3. Hard copy and digital format availability (for use on First 5 California Parent site)
4. Ability to update digital format
5. Language appropriate for parents (sixth-grade reading level)

Funding for the contract extension would enable First 5 California to provide uninterrupted Kit production and distribution while allowing staff time to develop Kit revision recommendations based on gathered input from First 5 counties, First 5 California staff, and other community partners. A revamped Kit will include updated content, expansion of digital information delivery to parents, easier Kit ordering systems, and refreshed and “greener” packaging. First 5 California will return to the Commission later in 2017 with a proposal for the revamped Kit.

SUMMARY OF PREVIOUS COMMISSION DISCUSSION AND ACTION

The Commission has not previously discussed or taken action on this subject.

FISCAL ANALYSIS

The request extends existing funding. Of the $4.5 million requested, $3 million is to continue the existing services for one-year; the remaining $1.5 million is for the purchase of UC Berkeley’s Parent Guide. The cost for the Kit for New Parents is offset by approximately $600,000 in annual federal fund reimbursements.
